21.04.2023

Internet address structure

Have you ever asked yourself whether the Internet address (URL) you are about to click is really secure and trustworthy? In our new article, you can find out how a URL is structured and how to check it correctly.

With the increasing number of faked URLs, it can prove difficult to differentiate between a legitimate and a fraudulent website. We are therefore pleased to present you with a new article on our website explaining structure and checking of Internet addresses. In this article, you can find out how to understand the structure of an URL and how to check links for their authenticity.

You can find our new article on Internet address structure and checking (https://www.ebas.ch/internetaddress) here.

Copyright – All rights reserved. Lucerne School of Information Technologies