Google Chrome now new: with slider

Google is updating its Chrome browser, replacing the lock with a slider symbol.

You can now check certificates using the slider symbol the way you did previously with the lock symbol.

The slider symbol is located in the same place the familiar lock symbol used to be.

Google implemented this change from their Chrome version 120.0.6099.110 (official build, 64-bit) onwards.

Further details on using the slider can be found here \(https://www.ebas.ch/en/certificate-checking-chrome/\).
