

Deepfake

Deepfake is the term used to describe realistic-looking media content such as photos, videos or audio files which have been either manipulated or completely created with the help of Artificial Intelligence. This aims to present people, places or events in such a way that makes you believe they are real, although they have been faked or are totally fictitious.