Security gap

A security gap is a term denominating a vulnerability found in any hardware or software which could trigger unexpected, unwanted system behaviour under certain conditions.

See also: Vulnerability (https://www.ebas.ch/en/glossary/vulnerability/)

Copyright – All rights reserved. Lucerne School of Information Technologies