

Spoofing

Spoofing (which means something like feigning, concealing) is the term used for a method of attack where cyber-criminals assume a faked identity – for instance that of a trustworthy person or organization. In the process, e-mail addresses or telephone numbers are “spoofed”.